Addison Fowler

SUMMARY

Entry level software developer, reliable professional with hands-on experience in customer service and healthcare support, bringing strong teamwork, time management, and attention to detail to every role. Recently developed technical skills in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React, and Git through coursework and personal projects, gaining confidence in building clean, responsive web interfaces. I'm now looking to grow in a supportive tech environment where I can contribute to real-world projects and continue expanding my development skills.
